TRAIL OF IRWIN IS TO BE TAKEN UP BY G-MEN

G-Men Entering Hunt For Irwin In Triple Crime

Orders Issued To Department Of Justice Men To Concentrate On Capture

IRWIN MAY NEVER BE PLACED ON TRIAL

Authorities Assert He Will Be Sent To Asylum
If He Is Apprehended

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 10.—Under a new law permitting federal participation in murder probes when suspects cross state lines, the United States Department of Justice today threw its vast resources into the hunt for Robert Irwin, fugitive in New York City's triple murder.

Orders were issued to G-Men to concentrate on capture of Irwin, named by New York police in the slaying of beautiful Veronica Gedeon, artist's model, her mother and a hapless boarder, Frank Byrnes.

May Never Be Tried
Irwin, theology student and artist, may never be placed on trial but officials were determined to take him into custody.

Authorities here said that if he is arrested he will be sent to a hospital for the insane—perhaps to the institution where he was twice before a patient.

Assistant Chief Inspector John A.
Lyons, in charge of the Easter sudden triple murder investigation, revealed Irwin need not fear the electric chair.

He issued a statement, regarded as a direct appeal to the missing sculptor to submit to arrest, in which he declared:

"This case is no longer a criminal matter.

"It is simply a medical case. There is no question but that he is mentally sick.

"It makes no difference whether he committed three or 300 murders as far as the state is concerned. His psychopathic background shows that he is insane.

"He must be picked up, however."

Increased Wages Promise Of Ford

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
WAYS, Ga., April 10.—Promising increased wages and production
"when this strike mess is over,"
Henry Ford, famed automobile magnate against whom the United Automobile Workers Union expects to direct its next campaign, today levelled another blast at labor unions in general.

"Labor union organizations are the worst thing that ever struck the earth because they take away a man's independence," the 74-year-old manufacturer asserted emphatically.

Refuses Comment On Threats
Although the manufacturer refused to comment upon the unionization threats from leaders of the Committee for Industrial Organization, he did make one statement that lent credit to the rumors he would seek to defeat their aims through increased wages for his workmen.

He said:
"When this strike mess is over we'll demonstrate wages, production and competition such as never seen before.

"We have been holding down our production lately so as not to take advantage of our competitors during the strikes."

The famous manufacturer then

BUCHAREST, April 10.—A visit to the United States appeared a possibility today for Nicholas Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, formerly Prince Nicholas of Rumania, shorn of his royal rights and prerogatives because he refused to renounce his commoner wife, Jana Lucia Deletj.

For All Time.
With his wife and four-year-old son, Nicholas is expected to leave Rumania for all time tomorrow.

The populace learned this morning through the medium of the official Gazette that Nicholas had definitely chosen the love of a woman in preference to the love of a throne, and his defection from the rank of royalty caused hardly a ripple of excitement.

The American visit seemed likely because of Nicholas' absorbing interest in automobiles and airplanes.
He has long felt the United States is the best place to further his study of aeronautics and he is already acknowledged to be one of the foremost racers in Rumania.

Will Not See King.
In a secluded villa 20 miles from Bucharest, Nicholas and his little family packed in preparation for their departure into exile. They are expected to drive direct to Vienna

Huge Sum Being Paid Out Today

It's payday at the Shenango and New Castle plants of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Company today and approximately $375,000 in cash is going out to the employees of the two mills. Overtime at time and a half, increased rates of pay and capacity employment are responsible for the tremendous payroll which will have its effect in the receipts of business houses.

The total payroll for March amounts to $750,000, approximately, it was said today, a figure that means a lot to everybody in the city and county.

Hitler's Secret Police Ordered To Run Down New 'Mystery' Party

BERLIN, April 10.—Germany's mysterious new liberal "political party" appeared destined for an early end today as the Gestapo, Chancellor Hitler's dread secret police, launched an investigation of the ephemeral organization which distributed leaflets outlining a program for "restoration of freedom" in the Reich.

Authorities at first refused to take seriously this apparent liberal political manifestation despite claims it represents "all shades of opinion from Socialists to Nazis," but the Gestapo was finally assigned to the task of running down its authorship.

Senior High School Play Friday Night Pleases Large Crowd

Ordinarily, all that can be done with a pair of sixes is a little thow-ing away. Once in a blue moon you may draw something that will help and last night was our lucky night.
The senior high school dramatics department stayed with "A Pair of Sixes" and drew a full house at the high school auditorium, as a matter of fact the fullest house a high school play has seen in the past eight years.

In case the matter slips our mind later on in this article we would like to nominate Friday night's play as the best thing the high school folks have done in a while. "A Pair of Sixes" is comedy of course, three acts of laughs around a pair of squabbling business partners. The play was written back in 1914 by Edward Pele when people still expected the theatre to provide entertainment and not settle sociological cross word puzzles. Its the sort of a play in which you can unbuckle your vest and really let yourself go.

Well Treated.
The senior students did well by Mr. Pele's comedy. If at times they

Canadian Strike Near Showdown

Sixty Employees Enter Parts
Department Of G. M.

OSKAWA POLICE
WATCH PROCEEDINGS

(International News Service)
OSKAWA, Ont., April 10.—First move by General Motors to force a "showdown" in the strike of 4-200 GM employees in two Canadian plants was concluded without incident today when 60 employees were permitted by pickets to enter the corporation's parts department here.

The workers, including a dozen girls, were bused as they passed into the plant's maintenance department, where they were to remove parts for shipment to assembly plants, but were otherwise not molested.

Oshawa local police officers watched the proceedings, but no attempt to interfere was made by either the strikers or police.

Entry of the workers into the plant apparently was the result of Premier Mitchell Hepburn's ultimatum to union organizers. He had earlier declared:

"Those parts will move!" Hugh Thompson, organizer for the committee for industrial organization, had warned "there may be bloodshed" were any effort made by non-strikers to enter the Oshawa plant.

A peace move, designed to settle the strike, which involved 4,200 workers, was under way. Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, H. J.

corporation, and J. B. Highfield,

Justice Hughes Is 75 On Sunday

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 10.—Speculation over possible retirement of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes was rife today. He will be 75 years old tomorrow.

The speculation grew chiefly out of a statement made in a book by Hughes on the supreme court in which he said that a compulsory re-easily defended than compulsory retirement at 70.

City police today were notified

MADRID, April 10.—The Spanish civil war has entered its decisive phase
"and we may be able to forecast its end within a few weeks," Indalecio Prieto, minister of marine and air, declared in an official pronouncement today.

"The enemy has been beaten at Guadalajara and Cordoba, and is now concentrating its efforts against the Biscay provinces," he said.

"The government which at the beginning of the war had merely to contend with a rebellion, has acquired greater importance, because the loyalist cause has become the cause of Spanish independence."

Loyalists On Offensive
Violent fighting on the Madrid front, with charging loyalists retaining the offensive, continued today as rebels were forced to abandon strategic positions surrounding Spain's war-torn and besieged capital.

At the same time, rebels claimed from Salamanca that 40 persons, including 30 children, were killed and 100 wounded when loyalist planes bombed Valladolid.

The insurgents also claimed operations were continuing "normally" in the Vitoria area in northern Spain and that a government at-

GOVERNOR ORDERS PROBE

State Police Make Inquiry

State Gravel Contracts In Erie County To Be Subject Of Investigation

CHARGES IN CASE TO BE LOOKED INTO

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 10—An intensive probe of charges there had been "cheating on state gravel contracts" in Erie county was instigated by state police today upon orders of Gov. Geo. Earl.

Terminating the situation "a serious one if these charges are true," the chief executive said in ordering the investigation.

"There have been charges made that there has been cheating on state gravel contracts and that sub-standard gravel has been delivered to the state instead of that quality which is called for in the contract. If this is true it is a serious matter which should be halted and the offenders punished."

"I have ordered an investigation into the situation and have instructed the state police to prove published charges so that they may discover the method of cheating and determine if there was any graft involved."

The travel alleged to have been of an inferior quality was furnished to road construction jobs in Erie and Warren counties on six contracts let November 12, 1936 to the Pioneer Materials Company, Kittanning.

added the huge Ford Motor Company, second largest in the world, was considering new methods of production "that will require more skill, higher wages, and a larger number of employees."

Asked more specifically about the plan for higher wages, the motor magnate pointed out that an increase in wages naturally comes with an increase in production.

Leading The Way
Ford is very proud of the record of the Ford Motor Company in "leading the way" in the increase of wages during the past several years and claims the distinction of having first set a minimum wage of $5 per day.

The elderly manufacturer returned to the white plantation here only a few days ago after a hurried trip to his Dearborn offices during the strike of workers at his plant in Kansas City.

While in Dearborn, he revealed, he discussed the whole situation with his son, Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, and added that he and his son were "in accord" about the proposed revision of production and wages.

He would not be more specific about the proposed revisions of the company's wage and working schedule.

No Union Recognition

Returning to the subject of labor unions, the manufacturer declared that when workers are regimented into unions they are more easily led into war by profit-seeking financiers and that they gain nothing from industry by joining unions.

He then reiterated his declaration of a few days ago that he had no intention of recognizing the United Automobile Workers as a bargaining agency for his workers.

Instead, he said he would deal direct with his own men.

He did not comment upon the recent sit-down strike in the Ford plant in Kansas City, which was settled within a short time.

Shortly after the settlement of the strike in his Kansas City plant, Ford declared that industry has "led the way" in increased wages and asserted that the increased benefits workers have realized during the past few years have resulted from industry and not from labor unionization.

The noted manufacturer, who has been living in seclusion on his huge plantation near here, gave his opinion of the present battle between workers and industry in one of his rare interviews with the press.

HITLER'S SECRET POLICE TO RUN DOWN "MYSTERY" PARTY

ceived copies of the pamphlet last night.

The Gestapo, it was learned, is working on two theories. One is that a group of radical university students in Berlin, Munich or Heidelberg may have been responsible. The second is that emigres are behind the scheme.

Smuggled Literature.

In connection with the second possibility, it was pointed out the leaflets were printed on the same type of onion-skin paper as other subversive literature periodically smuggled into Germany.

This paper is of foreign make, indicating to authorities that a small group of agitators abroad, rather than any extensive organization of German dissidents, was responsible. Copies of the group's printed manifesto were received by foreign correspondents through the mails. It was claimed many copies had been distributed in Berlin.

High Treason.

The manifesto was sent out despite the fact that founding a new political party in the Nazi third Reich is equivalent to high treason and may be punished by death.

The manifesto asks, among other things, for withdrawal of German troops from Spain to halt the danger of European war, freedom of speech, freedom of religion, non-political justice, fair wages, dissolution of the Reichstag and free new elections.

lack was repulsed on the Santander front with much war material captured by the rebel forces. Warships continued to bombard loyalist cities along the Basque coast.

More Than 60,000 Battle
More than 60,000 men, spread along a crescent shaped front west of Madrid, engaged in a fierce battle in which, according to Gen. Jose Miaja, commander of the loyalist forces in central Spain, the University City sector was encircled by government troops and some 10,000 rebels trapped.

A desperate insurgent counter-attack was anticipated in an effort to re-establish contact with a large force entrenched in the University City college buildings. Fighting was exceptionally heavy around Monte Carabital, and the hill bristled with rebel artillery and machine guns which commanded the entire western front.

A few shells landed in the center of Madrid as the battle progressed. The Carabanchel suburban district was reduced to a shambles. In one building there, a single loyalist shell killed 200 rebels.

He is a danger to the citizens of the community, wherever he might be."

"No Trap" Intended
Inspector Lyons further declared Irwin is "stark mad." His obvious offer of immunity has been broadcast through the entire eastern seaboard. Lyons insisted that no "trap" was intended. If the sculptor surrenders, he will be sent to a hospital and not to the electric chair.

Participation in the investigation by agents of the department of justice was regarded as strictly "unofficial."

Nevertheless, those agents were bearing the brunt of the nationwide search for Irwin outside New York, New Jersey and adjacent states.

It was believed the missing man was somewhere near the west coast. He once lived there and in his flight he probably would head for communities in which he has friends.

Quietly, the G-Men sent operatives into communities all along the line from New York to California, visiting bus stations and questioned touring motorists.

ENGINEERING FOR PEACE

At a time when war clouds loom ominously over many parts of the world and when applied science seems to have as one of its major objectives the efficient slaughter of human beings, it is pleasing to note that at least one major professional organization is doing its best to promote the ways of peace.

Some 2,000 civil engineers recently attended the annual meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers in New York City. They did not consider the implements of militarism. Rather, they engaged in discussing improved methods of sanitation, water supply, flood control, highway construction, tunnel and bridge building and city planning.

If humanity ever reaches the stage where it treats of these things to the exclusion of the deadly engines of war, life on the planet will have attained a cultural level of real promise. The American Society of Civil Engineers deserves credit for heading in the right direction.

RUSH FOR CITIZENSHIP

The citizenship industry is flourishing now along with the others. That is, the business of making new citizens. The trend is noticeable all over the country. A typical industrial city reports that it naturalized 1,633 aliens in 1933, 2,077 in 1934, 2,611 in 1935 and 3,572 in 1936, and expects 5,000 this year. New immigrants have not been coming in. These are the old ones.

Why this new enthusiasm for Americanization? Because alien residents have been learning to appreciate America more than they used to. The misery, unrest and tyranny in foreign lands make them realize more than ever what they have escaped from. If opportunity is not so great here as they used to expect, they can see that it is nevertheless far greater than in the countries they left.

They realize, too, that there is safety for them under the American flag—protection from being dragged by an ambitious dictator into a deadly foreign war in which they would have no personal interest. Protection also from such tyranny as native Americans have never known.

The Stars and Stripes look good to these immigrants now—very good indeed.

McGUFFEY'S READERS AGAIN?

Six small volumes, which have been described as "the most influential books ever published in America" and which helped to form the characters and literary tastes of millions of Americans, may be restored to use in New York schools, after an absence of about fifty years, the New York Herald Tribune says. They are McGuffey's Eclectic Readers, a series of textbooks which inculcated sound morals, habits of industry, thrift and self-denial, and also offered literary selections of approved merit, as a guide to formation of youthful taste.

In countless instances the selections contained in McGuffey, such as "Thanatopsis," "The Battle of Waterloo," "Rienzi's Address to the Romans," "Webster's Reply to Hayne," with quotations from Milton and Shakespeare, were the young readers' introduction to literature and, in a majority of cases, were the extent of his or her acquaintance therewith in later life. The enormous effect of these modest books, from which the compiler's first name was omitted, may be judged by the fact that about 120,000,000 of them were printed in successive editions.

An extract from the preface describes as part of their aim "to exert a decided and helpful moral influence," and in furtherance of that purpose there were quoted fables, mottoes, maxims, proverbs, aphorisms, each conveying a lesson for the young. Examples of their homely wisdom have found their way into common speech, and are still as sound as when they were first uttered. It is to discuss whether liberal selections from these guides to youth can be used to advantage by New York's elementary schools that a committee of teachers and associate superintendents will meet next week. "As a public school boy," said New York Superintendent Campbell, "I was deprived of the pleasure of reading these books, possibly because the school officials thought they were too quaint and naive for New Yorkers. As an educator I found them a great source of inspiration for children."

If the educators decide that the solid value of the readers has survived fifty years, and that their homely lessons are still valid, they may be restored to use in the elementary schools, where they should help to lay solid foundations of character for generations whose opportunities for acquiring them elsewhere than in school may not be as good as in McGuffey's day.

The first sign of age is not wrinkles but the inability to give a darn about other people.

"Women," says a New York educator, "must learn to speak for themselves." And fish, we believe, should go in for swimming and canaries for singing.

Bert Acosta considers the Russians the best fliers in Spain. His opinion, we understand, is deeply resented by the Italians, the Germans, the Portuguese, and the rest.

WATCH YOUR LIGHTS

Importance of adequate rear lights is too often overlooked by motorists. In a very recent case in California a widow and the mother of two minor children were denied damages for the death of her husband who failed to maintain adequate rear lights on an automobile which he was towing along the highway.

The deceased was a garage man, and had been called to drag a car out of a ditch. After getting it upon the highway the lights of the damaged car were turned off and, because a front fender was dragging upon one of the tires, the deceased went between the tow car and the damaged car to make temporary adjustments. While in this position an automobile came from the rear, ran into the standing unlighted machine and pushed it ahead into the tow car, crushing the deceased between these vehicles.

In addition to the violation of law with respect to rear lights, that section of the California Act was also "isolated, which makes it unlawful to leave a vehicle standing, whether attended or otherwise, upon the paved or improved or main traveled portion of any public highway outside of a business or residence district when it is practicable to park or leave such vehicles standing off of such portions of the highway."

This accident happened in the late evening in wet weather when lights are particularly needed because of low visibility. The verdict of the jury in favor of the defendant was affirmed by the appellate court.

It was just another case where the dead man had contributed to the cause of his death by negligent failing to observe two very necessary laws provided for his safety, as well as the safety of other automobilists.

FORUM ON YOUTH

Recently I served on a Youth Forum in my home city, conducted by the young people's organizations of the Euclid avenue churches of Cleveland. In the audience of 350 young folks, 47 different local churches were represented. Tolerance? Co-operation? We met in the Euclid avenue temple whose rabbi is the eminent Dr. Barnett Bricker, the Rev. Dilworth Lupton, of the Unitarian church gave the brief general address. Subject: "Youth and Marriage."

Then the audience broke up into seven discussion groups. Two groups considered "The Choice of a Life Companion." Two considered "Sex Problems of Courtship and Marriage." Two "Inter-marriage-interdenominational Aspects." One, "Economic Problems of Marriage." The discussion leaders consisted of two psychologists, one doctor of medicine, one economist, one Jewish rabbi, one Presbyterian preacher, and one Methodist preacher. My group was one of the two on "The Choice of a Life Companion." They talked as a discussion group should.

Among the desirable traits to look for in a life companion, our group considered sportsmanship, integrity or dependability, loyalty, a good sense of humor and consideration—habit of showing proper deference to others. Closely related is the ability to celebrate the successes of others and encourage them to gain further victories rather than to become bitter when others succeed.

Plan to Point Out Faults

About 25 years ago, before my wife and I were married, we earnestly pledged to each other that we would try to be of mutual aid by pointing out to each other his shortcomings. Long since we have concluded that this covenant was wholly superfluous. We wish now we had pledged to celebrate each other's successes. This is a covenant I would commend to all young people who are engaged. Of course, one can work at it at any time; but it is hard work! Grandma Nature is against it.

A young woman of the group reminded us that, despite our modern ways, it is not so easy for a girl as for a boy to "choose."

The group seemed to agree that it was best, as a rule, to marry in about the same social class or economic level; that while many parents hope that their children might gain an edge in the "bargain" the one who seems to gain the edge really loses it, because that person usually develops a feeling of inferiority, unless he or she has other compensating capabilities.

The group seemed to agree, moreover, that parents unconsciously influence the choice of a mate by the influence they early in the child's life, but that parents should not choose the mates of their children. They should merely set the stage. On the subject of "Education for Marriage" I have a chapter in my book "The Modern Family." Part of it may be a little old-fashioned for some persons. It is not pornographic literature. I wrote that book so it would be fit for any adolescent boy or girl to read.

THE PRECIOUS GIFT

Henry has just gone. He stayed for half an hour and annoyed me. He said things I didn't want to hear and he knew he was saying them and knew he was annoying me.

Henry always tells me what I ought to do and what I ought to write and how I ought to write it. He started on that this morning and kept at it for minute after minute. Henry writes well, always though he doesn't think he does. He knows crowds of human beings, rich and poor. His heart has great depths of sympathy and understanding. He has a fine brain.

But he doesn't know my business, he doesn't entirely understand my joy and it's my belief he never will. But he persists in telling me what I should do. Sometimes I listen, sometimes I shut my ears and my mind to what Henry is saying. I thank him and follow my own opinion.

But this morning I couldn't do it. I shifted in my seat. I drew my eyebrows down. I listened stiffly. I glared politely at him. I put on an act.

And in the midst of my performance Henry shouted with laughter: "You idiot!" he said, "don't you know I've just been ribbing you? All I've been doing is working out on you and getting you stirred up. I thought you needed it, and I guess you did. . . . So long!"

So I laughed and understood that my friend Henry had been making an idiot of me for my own good. And I didn't resent it. . . . He was being iron-quintine-and-strychnine—that bitter tonic—for my spirit. . . . So I laughed and we talked of other things and in the end I found myself taking his advice.

He doesn't know anything about my job, but he does know plenty about human beings. He is one, I'm another, and he knows what I need even when I myself don't know it. He is doctor, minister and friend, and I would not have him changed in any detail.

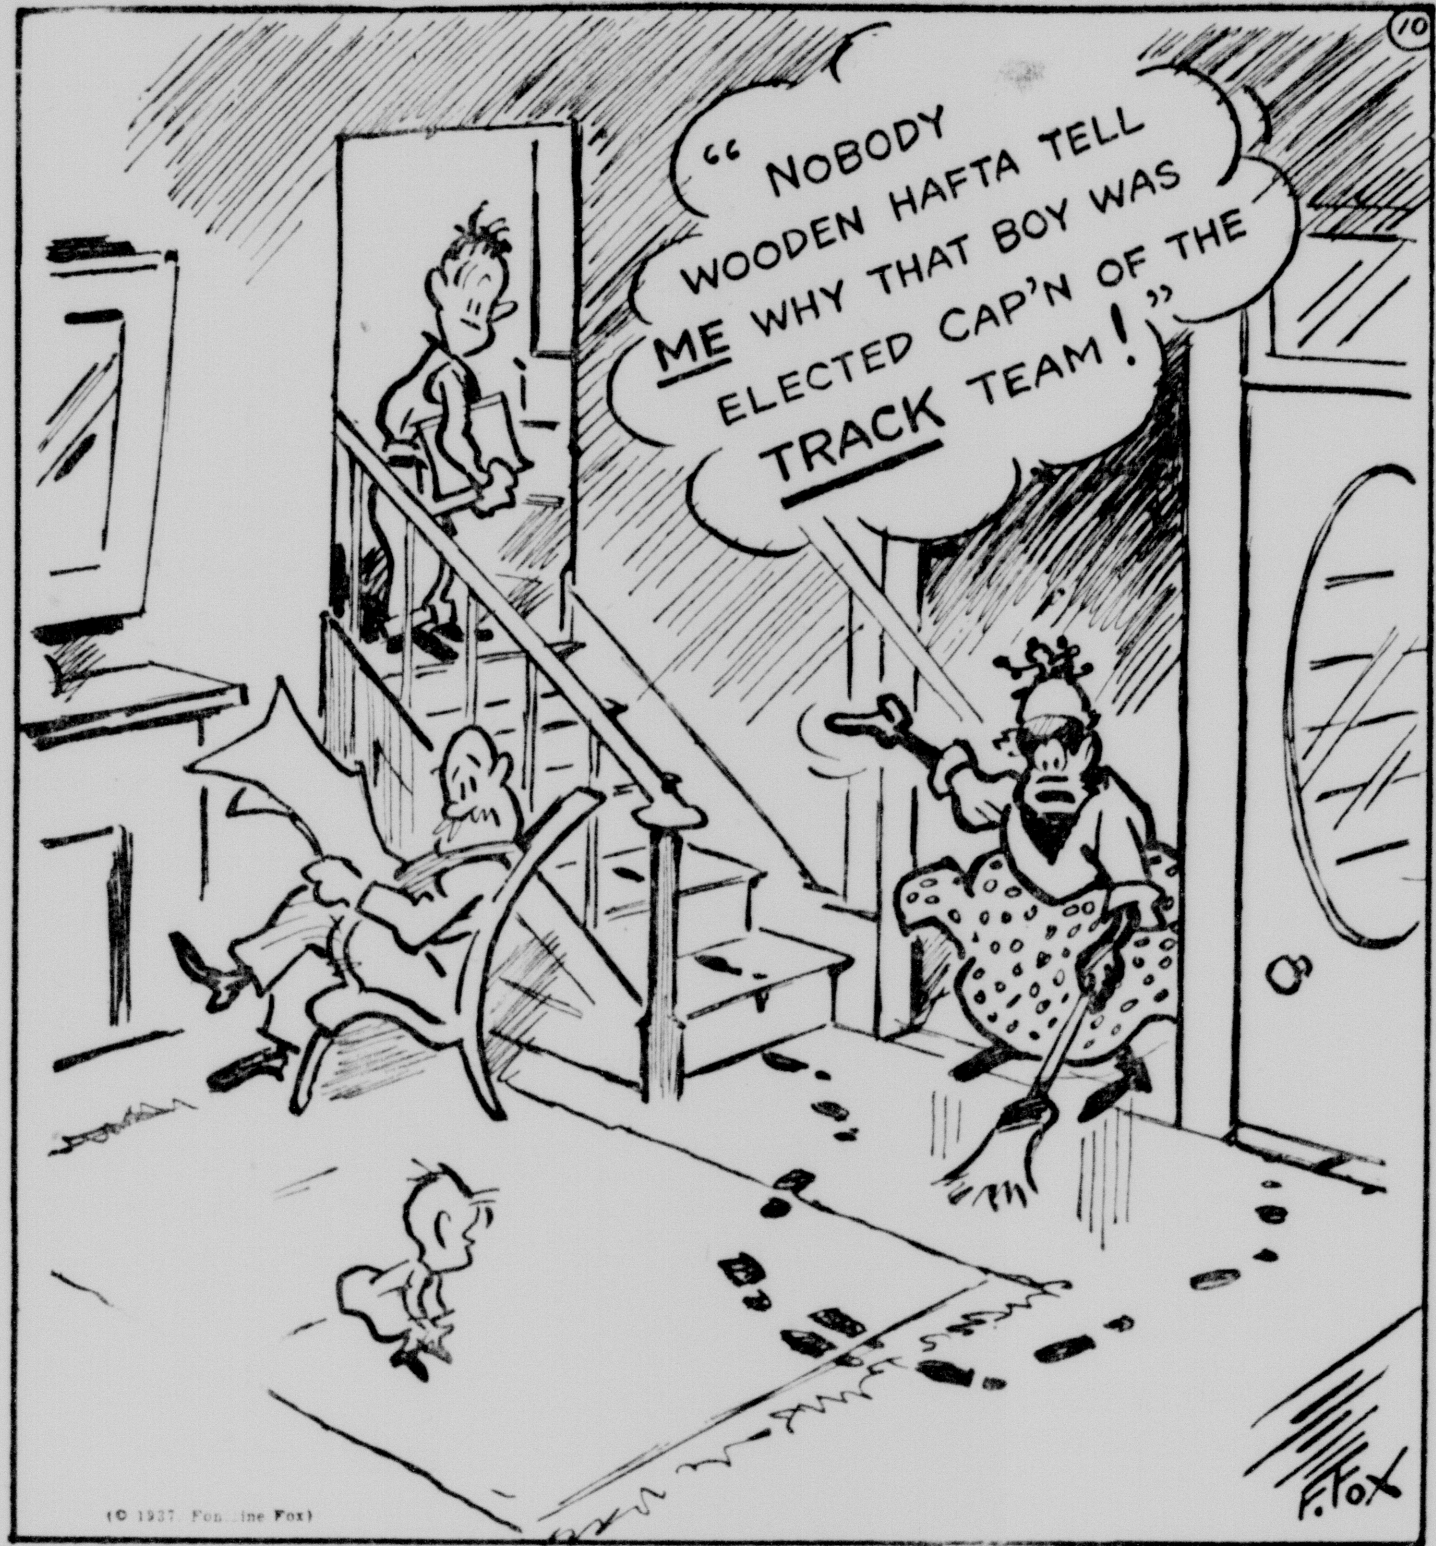

Henry was in and he annoyed me. . . . But he left no dregs of bitterness or annoyance behind him. . . . I would like to have him in my heart. How fortunate is any man who has a friend like Henry! He has a precious gift.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6.32. Sun rises tomorrow 5.30.

The Hints and Dints man is opposed to any sports on Sunday and believes the American Sunday should not be desecrated. ON BUYING A HAT
I meant to buy a hat today. The very latest kind. With a saucy, perky tilt in front. And nothing much behind. A hat to cheer my inner soul. And cover up my head. But I didn't buy a hat because, I bought a bowl instead.

In some places along the seacoasts in this country old automobiles are thrown into the water and the sand fills in around them and over them and it makes more land. It also does away with those ugly looking piles of junk that we see on land in so many places.

"Yep," said another member who lives across the road from the newlyweds, "she surely does. She puts burnt offerings before him every day."

PIE BAKING HINTS
Few things give a cook a more let-down feeling than a pie with a soggy bottom crust. Every cook has her own favorite recipe for pie dough but here are some tricks which are important. Pastry should be chilled thoroughly before it is rolled out and after the bottom crust is in the pan it should be brushed with unbeaten egg-white to prevent soaking.

GARDEN TIME
'Tis time to get the muddy shoes beyond the attic stair;
To don those dreadful trousers, which she calls unfit to wear.
'Tis time once more to roam about a fruitful thing to see
And set the neighbors wondering of they're beholding me.

'Tis time to lean upon the fence and chat the twilight through
The while I tell some younger man the things I've learned to do.
I'll share with him my marigold my columbine and phlox
And teach him how to line his wall with stately hollyhocks.

'Tis time to kneel upon the ground and work with hoe and spade,
To wear those comfortable rags which aren't of dirt afraid.
Soon I shall chuckle once again while pottering round the place,
To hear the mother calling me "The 'Neighborhood disgrace!"

Full Dinner Pail Slogan Revived.
Democrats To Use Old Motto.
No General Disarmament Peace.

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Columnist

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGNERS in Pennsylvania next year may use a slogan used effectively by the Republicans for many years—"A Full Dinner Pail." Steel mills in the Pittsburgh district are operating at the highest rate on record. And wages are up, prices are up. The steel payroll nationally now amounts to $1,055,000,000 a year.

PRICES MAY DROP

If the governors of the Federal Reserve system decide to increase interest rates, there will be a flattening out of the boom. The Roosevelt administration probably does not desire to give the hint—yet. The hope has been to keep interest rates low to permit all possible legitimate expansion. But, as usual in booms, speculation creeps in. Perhaps it would be better to say, rushes in.

But it may be assumed that no government will go very far toward depressing prices, no matter how sound that policy may be. People, unfortunately, associate booming prices with "prosperity."

HOW LONG?

There is some exception to the statement of Charles G. Dawes that the present boom will last two more years.

If his advice is followed, and large investors withdraw from stocks, hold their cash in hand till bond returns are at an attractive level again, then invest in bonds, the stock market boom will not last two years.

A FORECAST

Some of the most stolid, unemotional observers are warning that there will be no general peace and disarmament conference, which the United States will enter, until the downfall of either or both Hitler and Mussolini. There is too much madness afoot, according to these cynics.

STATE LABOR LAWS

Organized labor is becoming skeptical of those state labor relations acts being rushed through legislatures. On examination, some of them would outlaw all the gains of recent years.

In congress, labor is fighting the Maritime Mediation bill, introduced by Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania. Labor leaders say it is loaded against labor.

RAIL BUS HERE

J. L. Giles of Jamaica, L. I., writes that the United States, as well as France, could have had the speedy rail buses concerning which we wrote recently.

"Forth your information," says Mr. Giles, "E. K. Howe did all that he could to interest certain American railroads in this idea several years ago. He spent a lot of money and time and so did the automobile tire companies, experimenting with the idea, and then had to 'lay it on the shelf.'"

Mr. Giles enclosed interesting pictures. The American experiment looks as good as the French actuality.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

CHICAGO—Murray Seasongood, former mayor of Cincinnati, speaks of the city manager plan he sponsored: "Our kind of government is a real merit system. It is not run by a political machine. It is not run for the benefit of gangsters and racketeers."

SAN FRANCISCO—Harry Carey, actor, predicts the return of western pictures: "But we need modern westerns with none of the absurdities which some scenarioists write when they attempt to picture the West as it was 50 or 60 years ago."

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Dr. Weston A. Price, Cleveland anthropologist, says modern foods change his physique for the worse: "An important phase of this change in physical development is the narrowing and lengthening of the face."

MIDDLETOWN, Conn.—Dr. James J. McConaughy, president of Wesleyan university, disapproves of President Roosevelt's supreme court plan: "I believe the country's greatest good will be attained by avoiding any deliberate plan to 'reform the court.'"

To don those dreadful trousers, which she calls unfit to wear.
'Tis time once more to roam about a fruitful thing to see
And set the neighbors wondering of they're beholding me.

'Tis time to lean upon the fence and chat the twilight through

To wear those comfortable rags which aren't of dirt afraid.
Soon I shall chuckle once again while pottering round the place,
To hear the mother calling me "The 'Neighborhood disgrace!"

Ladies Of G. A. R. Have Appomattox Day Dinner

It was on the 9th day of April, 1865, that General Robert L. Lee surrendered to General U. S. Grant at Appomattox, Va., thus virtually ending the long, bloody war between the states.

That day was just as important to America as the Armistice Day which ended the war between the countries of the world, and, appropriately, the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic in New Castle have celebrated the anniversary for many years past.

Yesterday's Appomattox Day dinner in Woodmen hall was one of the most impressive of any of the annual gatherings, a fitting observance of the declaration of peace and tribute to the memory of the soldiers who lived and died for what they believed to be right.

Although Lawrence county's few remaining "comrades" were unable to be present this year in the body they were there in spirit and the speakers on the program paid respect to them in memory of the days when as stalwart soldier lads they had willingly shouldered their muskets and marched off to war.

"America" was sung by the assembly of about 60 guests at the opening of the meeting. Rev. F. E. Stough, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, who is the son of a veteran, asked the blessing, and later in the afternoon made a few remarks, expressing his pleasure for the opportunity of attending the gathering and his pride over being the son of a Civil War soldier.

Immediately following dinner splendid addresses were made by C. W. Herman Hess, by Judge James A. Chambers who spoke for the Sons of Union Veterans in the absence of Commander William Logan and by Mayor Charles E. McGrath. A piano solo by Miss Jane Bryan, remarks by Mrs. Sadie Parks, president of the Relief Corps, in the absence of the president of the Daughters of Union Veterans, Mrs. Jessie Harris, and remarks by Mrs.

Mary Kurtz, past president of the Daughters, and by Mrs. Catherine Ayers, president of the Auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans, followed in order.

Mrs. Lulu Schetrom, president of the Ladies of the G. A. R., presiding officer of the occasion, was presented with a past president's pin by Mrs. Rose Tripp in recognition of the commencement of her second term.

Mrs. Tripp also presented a similar award to Mrs. Blanche Boston who has the distinction of serving for the past ten years as treasurer of the organization.

"Blessed Be the Tie That Binds" was sung by everyone at the close.

There were numerous special guests present for the occasion, among them Attorney James Chambers, grandson of a veteran, the late James Elder. He was believed to be the only grandson present.

Compliments are deserved by Mrs. Rose Tripp and her committee, in charge of the kitchen arrangements. Mrs. Florence Gillespie and her committee, in charge of the dining room arrangements, and everyone who helped plan the very splendid program. It was an inspiring demonstration on the 72nd anniversary of that happy day in Virginia.

Girls Scout Troop Leaders Have Tour

Leaders Enjoy Lively Tour Of Western Downtown Section Friday Evening

Friday night's meeting of the New Castle Girl Scout Leaders Association was unusual from open to close, and was featured by a merry chase over the western part of town and a visit to the Central fire department.

Meeting first at the Girl Scout office on South Mercer street the women were shown a map of the territory to be covered on an "observation hike" and then received written instructions.

They went to the fire department where they were cordially received and conducted on an inspection of the building. After thanking the men for their courtesy, and laughingly saying that they were impressed by everything but the building, they departed for the post-office where they were shown the inside operations of the mailing department. Then on to the P. & L. E. tracks and then a reversal back to headquarters, making keen observations along the way in order to answer the minute microphone interviews to be conducted by Miss Eleanor LeFevre and Mrs. Mary Guy. The interviews promises to be of great interest.

A nominating committee, to report on new officers at the next meeting, was appointed as follows: Misses Frances Gibson, Edna Raney and Mary Metzler.

Hanging from the chandeliers was an appetizing lunch of apples, bananas, peanuts and candy, and all the leaders had to do was reach for them. There were 25 guests in all, including the commissioner, Mrs. C. M. England. The next meeting will be on May 7.

Industrial Home Work Is Problem

Increase In Amount Of Industrial Home Work Viewed With Alarm By Officials

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 10.—The increase in industrial home work in Pennsylvania was viewed with alarm today by Secretary of Labor and Industry Ralph M. Bashore.
"While the increase of industrial home work is deplorable," he declared, "the fact that chiseling manufacturers of other states are constantly trying to evade licensure gives us considerable cause for concern."
He based his observations on a survey of the home work situation conducted by the bureau of women and children.
"Thus between September of 1936 and December, when the problem was carried on, there was an increase of industrial homeworkers from 6,737 to almost 8,000," he added. "This, of course, applies only to the number registered. There probably may be thousands of others working for chiseling manufacturers."
A measure now before the legislature would erase this problem from Pennsylvania, he said.

Eject Sit-Downers From Office Of Ohio Governor

Sheriff's Deputies Forcibly Remove Sit-Down Delegation—Six Arrested

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O., April 10.—While six of their leaders languished in jail today, many of the relief clients who staged a 48-hour "sit-down" in Gov. Martin L. Davey's office nursed bruises received when they resisted eviction.
Answering the sheriff's order that they leave peacefully, by singing the communist anthem, "Solidarity Forever," the "sitters," including about 40 men and women, were ejected forcibly. Deputies swung maces on heads and arms when several shouted defiance.
The "sitters" took over the governor's spacious reception room two days ago, demanding a $50,000,000 appropriation for cash relief and abandonment of Davey's proposal to feed them from national guard "soup kitchens" when Ohio's relief law expires on April 15.
Once outside the state house, the evicted "sitters" hurled disparaging epithets at the governor and the deputies, resulting in the arrest "for investigation" of Ben Gray, Cleveland, president of the Ohio Workers' Alliance, and five others. They were held in jail all night.
Deputies said Gray told them he

Relief Strikers Are Dispersed

State Troops Ready As Deputized Citizens Disperse Crowd At Cairo, Ill.

(International News Service)
CAIRO, Ill., April 10.—While state troops stood by ready for action, 150 deputized citizens early today dispersed peacefully a mob of nearly 1,000 relief strikers who had occupied the Alexander County relief office and precipitated a riot earlier.
Martial law in the tense situation, which previously resulted in gunshot wounds for two strikers, was averted by a hail of breath. One company of National Guards was fully mobilized when the peaceful evacuation came.
The mob of relief clients and WPA workers, about 90 per cent of them Negroes, marched to relief headquarters early yesterday morning, and inaugurated a sit-down strike for a $3-per-week cash relief minimum.

Keystones Top Conns In First Game Of Series

Score Is 21 To 19 In Fast Game At Falcon Hall, Reiber And Nocera Stars

The Keystone A. C. basketball team, House-Indus League champs of the "Y" handed the Conns five a 21 to 19 setback last night at the Polish Falcon hall in the first of a three-game series. The game was one of the best of the year, and was witnessed by a large crowd.

Lester "Bus" Reiber, Teplica and Nocera stole the show last night as regards scoring. The lead see-sawed back and forth all during the game. The Conns looked best in the third period when they grabbed the lead as a result of Nocera and Waino dropping in field goals.

The Keys under Coach Andy "Coots" Venditto took a big lead at the halfway mark 12 to 6. The Conns had trouble in locating the hoops. Things looked bad for the Keys in the third stanza and they trailed by a few points.

In the fourth and final period the Keys led by Reiber, Kelly and Teplica, assumed charge of the lead again and held it to the end of the game. The play in the final few minutes was hot and furious. The Keys striving to maintain their lead and the Conns desperate for field goals. They flung them high, wide and handsome, but the ball couldn't find the hoop. Coach Charles Dlugosz was confident that the Conns will put up a better game against their older and more experienced opponents in the second game of the series.

Nocera with 10 of the Conns points and Carik with seven were the stars for the losers.

Paul Waner Has Signed Contract

Outfield Star Signs After Conference With President Benswanger

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 10—Paul Waner, the Pittsburgh Pirates star outfielder, put his "John Hancock" on a 1937 contract Friday at a conference with Manager Pie Traynor in Dallas, Tex., club officials here announced.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed but the club said both Waner and the Pirate prexies were pleased.

Waner will be in the lineup at Fort Worth when the Pirates play the Whitesox. He was pronounced in great shape.

Signing of the contract at the end of a half hour conference broke the impasse which began March 3 when Waner announced he was dissatisfied with his contract and refused to attend spring training at San Bernardino, Calif.

WHAT BIG LEAGUE TEAMS ARE DOING

(International News Service) HELENA, Ark., April 10—The Giants were mulling disconsolately today about that ninth inning rally of the Cleveland Indians which put the New York club on the short end of a 5-3 score. The Giants hope to do better against the Chicks in Memphis today.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 10—Once again, as on several previous though infrequent occasions, the bedeviled Dodgers were enjoying one of those "last laugh" today. They played the Jacksonville Tars, and the latter took an early lead, but the Dodgers finally caught up with themselves and won, 8-4, to the embarrassment of a lot of "first laughers" hereabouts.

TULSA, Okla., April 10—The New York Yankees were enroute to Arkansas today after chalking up their thirteenth straight victory and their twentieth in 23 exhibition games. Their latest victims were the Tulsa Oilers, who were defeated, 8-3.

Baseball Season Is Drawing Near

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports

NEW YORK, April 10—Northward, the course of baseball's empire takes its way, out of the land of the barbecue and back to this pale, warm springtime, so much like an invalid making slow recovery from a winter's illness. Today, though it looked a little like an early winter hereabouts, the Phillies and Athletics were to play the first major league game of 1937 north of the "line," specifically at Shibe Park, Philadelphia. On Wednesday next, the Cubs and Browns will drop in on Wichita, Kansas, the White Sox and Pirates on Kansas City, and the Bees and Senators will be in Washington.

Nine days hence, they'll be jumping the gun by 24 hours with official openings in Washington and Boston.

Five-Game Series
Incidentally, the Phils-Athletics five-game series is by way of sustaining the parable about the last being first, if only in the order of their appearance in these parts. This pair isn't thinking of first place. All they're after right now, as a matter of fact, is the first check.

At least a half dozen of the others won't be here for another week, at which time brief "city" series will begin on Saturday and end on Sunday in St. Louis and Boston, while the Cubs and White Sox open on Friday in Chicago and run through three days. Meanwhile, the Reds and Tigers will be playing in Dayton and another in Cincinnati, while the Giants and Dodgers starting a three-game series at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, on Friday.

In other words, baseball is on the verge of its annual outburst and as the fellow said who had just had a hair trim, it won't be long now.

Nippon Tennis Stars Predict Capture Of Cup

Japanese Tennis Stars Confident Of Winning Davis Cup For 1937

By MILTON G. DUNLAP
International News Service Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10—In their polite oriental way, three Japanese tennis players today told the world they would capture the 1937 Davis cup.

They were here today, ready for their baptism in this year's campaign and against an American team. They came here from Tokyo—Jiro Yamagishi, Hideo Nishimura and Fumiteru Nakano.

No sooner had they debarked from the N. Y. K. liner Taiyo Maru than they had themselves to the California tennis club and started practicing for the first round of the Davis cup series at the Lakeside Club April 3, May 1 and 2.

"We don't know how good we are, of course," said Yamagishi, captain of the team, "but we certainly expect to win the cup. What would be the use of coming here if we didn't?"

"We are in good condition. We have learned a lot more about tennis the past year and now we have a pretty strong team. I don't know why we shouldn't win."

Manager Charles Scaglione of the South Side Board of Trade baseball team announced today that the team would have a practice session Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Rosena Furnace field. All players are asked to be prompt in reporting.

Owner Frustrates Robbery Of Store

Jumps In Cellar When Ordered To Stick 'Em Up By Two Men

ELLWOOD CITY, April 10.—Some fast thinking on the part of N. Allegretti saved his store from being robbed last night by two colored men.

There were three customers in his Clover Farm store at 808 Fourth street about 8:25 last night when two colored men, unmasked, came in with automatics in their hands and ordered all to "stick 'em up." Mr. Allegretti thought and acted fast. He was near a staircase to his cellar and while he was raising his hands he quickly jumped down the stairs.

One of the negro thugs fired a shot at the fleeing proprietor and then both turned and fled from the store. They were not followed out by the customers or proprietors, so could not be learned which way they fled and in what manner. Local police were immediately summoned and Chief W. C. Morrison, Lieut. E. R. Hartman and Officer C. J. Clarke conducted an investigation. They learned that both negroes were of a dark type, with one being short and one tall. Both wore dark overcoats and seemed to be shabbily dressed.

Lowellville Power Plant Operating At Capacity Now

Idle for several years, the Lowellville O. power plant of the Ohio Edison system is now operating to capacity, according to Sam Stiles, general manager of the Ohio Edison Company.

The demand for power both industrial and commercial is at a new peak and any shut-down of the Lowellville plant now would mean a serious impediment in the furnishing of power to eastern Ohio consumers.

The new power plant of the Pennsylvania Power Co. which is to be built in or near New Castle will be under construction within the next few months it is thought but this will take nearly a year before it is ready to furnish power.

The Lowellville plant was re-opened after the St. Patrick's Day flood of 1936 when the Toronto, O., power plant was inundated.

Deputy Sheriffs Are Fired Upon Byirate Woman

(International News Service) YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 10.—The militant attempt of Mrs. Julia Holmes, 36, to block eviction of herself and her mother and sister from her home left Deputy Sheriff Frank French and Elmer Barger, eviction agent, slightly wounded today by pistol bullets.

Enraged at the sight of her furniture being carried out, Mrs. Holmes fired a pistol through a window at them, the deputies said. Most of the shots went wild but two grazed French. Barger was slightly wounded in the arm.

The other officers, uninjured, proceeded with eviction, arresting Mrs. Holmes, her mother, Mrs. Zella Wagner, 62, and her sister, Ann Wagner, 28. The women were taken to county jail for questioning and later released on bond.

Stock Market Quiet Today

Majority Of Issues Run Higher Today As Market Recovers In Abbreviated Session

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 10.—The stock market was a quiet and orderly affair in today's abbreviated session, with the majority of issues ruling slightly higher.

Initial trading brought fractional gains through the list, with a few of the leaders rising as much as 1/8 point. Mid-way through the first hour, some selling was noted in the motors and steels, bringing an irregular trend in those groups, but the rest of the list continued to display a firm tone in quiet trading.

General Motors dropped a point from its opening high of 60 to show a large fractional loss on the day. Chrysler dropped almost all of its early jump of 1 1/2 points. On an independent move, Auburn climbed better than a point.

Steels were mostly improved, although U. S. Steel had a gain of close to a point wiped out. Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Bethlehem, meanwhile, moved about a point above last night's final quotations.

Moderate buying placed coppers, rubbers, rails and some oils among the leaders on the upside. American Smelting, N. Y. Central and Texas Corp. were best here with gains of about a point each.

Oliver Farm again reached new high ground on a runup of a point. Montgomery Ward in the mail orders was up as much. Coca-Cola continued under pressure and lost 2 points at one time.

Bonds were generally improved in dull trading, with governments little changed. The undertone in most commodity markets was improved, although price changes were negligible.

OUT OF DREAM IN LAUGHING MOOD

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 10.—Purely personal stuff. Nothing makes a fellow feel so silly as popping out of a dream and laughing uproariously. Mine last night concerned a zany in tights with a zither bounding in to the room exclaiming "I'm the feature feature!"

In the dream it was the funniest crack I ever heard.

When I was a boy the highest salaried skilled worker in our town was a moulder who made $4 a day. Mightiest feminine stamina of the decade.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's. Top in views for meditation: Watching snow fall on a clear moonlit night. I always resolve to be a better boy.

The word that sounds most like that it is: Blizzard. The first dog I ever owned was a St. Bernard weighing 208 pounds. The most considerate host I know will never invite you to his home again if you give him dog anything to eat without permission. Most hideous magazine covers: Esquire's.

The only time I ever took gas I came to, unlaced my shoes and walked out to the elevator carrying them. Most romantic name for a soldier of fortune: Beal lancer. Greatest travel disappointment: Crossing that dinky little river they call the Rio Grande.

All time stage character role high: Edward G. Robinson as the gangster in "The Racket". When we left for the Big Town a fellow reporter in Cincinnati, Russell Wilson, saw us off. He's now mayor of that city. Zero in entertainment: Swiss bell ringers. Superlative in restraint: Taking a trip around the world and never mentioning it afterward. No aroma has the exquisite fragrance of a ripe red apple. I never knew a restaurant with high ceiling to prosper.

Master of dry wit: Arthur McKeogh. Any time I have to pass through a dark street I take to the middle of the road. And no dilly dallying either. Idea of grandeur: An all mirror bathroom gaged up with fancy paraphernalia. Ernest Hemingway has written but one book of great interest to my thinking. And Sinclair Lewis never wrote a dull line. New York's perennial legend: That 42nd street is to have a moving sidewalk. Men are far more vicious gossips than women. Proof: Sit around in the smoking room of any club for an evening. When I gargle I seem to say Margola Gilmore. New high in book-jacketing with a new low in contents: "The Chink in The Armour."

All but 11 years of my life were spent in hotels. And am I a fan for housekeeping? No. I Murder. In-cter: The seat kicker behind you at the movies. Opinion: The magazine line has not kept up the swift pace of its first few issues. Wallace Beery can pack as much drama in a line as any man on the screen. And with more naturalness. No one can write Pollyanna with more punch than Elsie Robinson. Steve Hannagan is now the most widely presagitated president. Hannagan and Bernard Sobel, another crack press agent, were born in Lafayette, Ind. Sublime in idiosyncrasy: Gracie Allen's giggle at a pun and her abrupt: "I don't get it."

I have been in three floods and one cyclone and I'll take the floods. Had I a son I'd send him to one of the fresh water colleges in the middle west. Take a look at the collegiate careers of successful men and you'll see what I mean. A combination of yellow and green make me squeamish. The best dressed man I ever saw was a Danish count in full evening dress at Ciro's in Paris. Perky name for an orchestra leader: Enoch Light. I don't like to be where there isn't a radio around. Amos 'n' Andy time. Warning to Kitty Carlisle: Run when you see me if you don't want to be flirited with.

Dorothy Hall's interpretation of a dumbbell is as good as I ever saw. Judith Anderson is proof that lack of beauty is no bar to dramatic heights. So is Katherine Cornell for that matter. Vincent Connolly is another radio news commentator who doesn't seem bored with his job. Private conversation: I'd like to eavesdrop. Ex-Kings Alfonso and Edward telling one another how they feel about the king business. Walter Pitkin thinks it so wonderful men have carved their careers after 40 he writes a book about it. Most men realize they had very little sense until 40, if you ask me.

Ugliest named dining place: The Iridium Room at the St. Regis. The past season has shown that there has the legitimate theatre so needed capable playwrights. I can think of ten people who gained fame and riches but who wouldn't make themselves ridiculous trying to keep in the spotlight. Prayer: Give us wisdom to know when to quit and stay quit. Voice—What's detaining you? (Copyright 1937, McNaught Syndicate Inc.)

Christine Schmitz, an unemployed nurse, sneaked into the Manhattan Opera House in New York and chained herself to a seat, determined to see a performance of "The Eternal Road." She refused to leave when a ticket-holder claimed the seat and defied ushers and the management until an emergency police squad arrived with flashlights and clipper. Miss Schmitz, 22, a former resident of Ohio, was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Slippery Rock is to have a new theater. A site on Main street has been secured by P. W. Means and Harry Batistina of Punksutawney, who plan to erect a theater seating 425 persons. Gerald R. Gummo, of Clinton County, recently appointed Conservation Agent for five counties one of which is Lawrence, was in the conservation office in the welfare building on Friday. He is here to get the 1937 program under way among Lawrence county farmers. Under the terms of the conservation work every farmer in the county is paid a bonus if he limes and fertilizes his acres according to the requirements of the federal government.

An example of how the plan works is this. John Doe has 100 acres in a township in this county. Fifty of the 100 acres are in orchard, 25 are in wheat or corn or oats or rye, and 25 acres are in vegetables for market. He first gets one dollar per acre for all his farm, then he gets another dollar per acre for all land in orchard, and an additional dollar per acre for all land in vegetables for market. This means that he gets $150 of a bonus if he complies with the governmental requirements on fertilization. He

Some time ago Chief of Police Ralph Criswell stated there has been an increase in the number of persons arrested for driving drunk. There were six arrests made on this charge last month in the city limits.

In all, liquor was involved in 95 arrests, 76 having been made for drunkenness, 13 for drunkenness and disorderly conduct plus the six for driving a car while allegedly intoxicated.

Spring weather having arrived, many property owners now are cleaning their yards, which caused Dr. William L. Steep, health officer, to again request that only licensed rubbish-haulers be employed. He said that in some instances youths have secured the job of disposing of rubbish and have dumped it on vacant lots which cause a breeding place for germs. If the boys took the rubbish to a city dump the health officer would voice no objections. A license to haul rubbish may be secured for 25 cents at the city health department.

Merchants Set Summer Hours

NAME COMMITTEE ON NOMINATIONS

At a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Friday, the Retail Merchants Division of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce decided to close their stores at 5 o'clock each week day afternoon between May 3 and September 18.

Week day closing hours at the present time are 5:30 o'clock. President A. L. Bantz was in charge of the meeting.

Daniel Treloar, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was present and spoke in regard to a Boost New Castle campaign. He was asked to present the complete plan of the Junior group at a later date, when it is expected that the Retail Merchants Division will give the matter serious consideration.

The group went on record as opposing House Bill No. 622, a Compulsory Health Insurance measure, and will ask the service clubs to join with them in opposing the act.

A nominating committee consisting of S. H. McGoun, De Lace Cole, L. B. Mather and A. L. Bantz was named to propose new officers for the organization, the fiscal year ending on June 1, when the annual election will take place.

Cite Safety Factor Of New Camp Pool

Rainstorms, Pollution Often Spoil Scouts' Slippery Rock Dips

During the 1936 camp season a single rainstorm turned Slippery Rock creek into a raging river and kept Boy Scouts at Camp John M. Phillips from their favorite sport of swimming for three full days.

Lawrence County leaders pointed out today as they studied plans for the financial drive in behalf of the $15,000 concrete pool which they expect to erect at the camp this summer.

"There are many reasons for building the pool," Hans N. Dries, head of the special pool committee, said, "but the one crying need can be expressed by the single word, 'safety.'"

Pollution of the Slippery Rock waters above the camp, it was also stressed, helps to make the creek unpopular for scouts on a regular daily swim basis.

The present swimming site of the boys is a half-mile from camp, while the new pool will be erected on the camp grounds.

The pool project was publicly announced Friday.
